A Quick Guide To Playing Your Canjo

The numbers on the song sheet correspond to the frets on the Canjo. Zero should be played as an 'open string' by strumming the string without holding a fret with your left hand.

The number 1 refers to the first fret, number 2 to the second and so on. For the best tone, press the string just behind the desired fret, not directly on the fret or in the middle of the fret.

Pluck the string with the pick or your finger. Get into the habit of plucking the string both on the down stroke and the upstroke, otherwise as you progress you'll only be able to play half as fast!
